Mew York, June 25.—The state of atfairs in the British Mediterranean fleet is causing much concern, says the London correspondent of the Tribune. It is well known that several naval officers have addressed strong remonstrances to the Admiralty in regard to the strength and war organization of the squadron, but Lord Charles Rerestore's action in making his communication public is not approved of. The reply of the Admiralty severary in the House of Commons last night with regard to Lord Charles's enter conveys an impression of censure on the popular rear-admiral and some of his friends that may lead to his resignation.

When the men waded from the train at Vivian the ladies were too much frightened to get into the water and frightened to get into the water and were place on the tender of an engine, where they were safe. Norfolk & Western officials here say that owing to the wires being down and no direct communication they are unable to estimate the damage caused by the flood in the coal fields. They do not believe the damage to property will amount to $6,000,000, as at first reported. Estimates of 200 lives being lost are now thought to be too great.

SECRETARY HAY

Does not depend on the start but on the finish. It's staying power which carries many a runner to victory. It's like that in business. Many a man starts off in the race for business success with a burst of speed which seems to assure victory. Presently be begins to falter and at last he falls and fails. The cause? Generally "stomach trouble." No man is stronger than his stomach. Business haste leads to careless and irregular eating. The stomach and other organs of digestion and nutrition become diseased. The body is inadequately nourished and so grows weak.

digestion and nutrition become diseased. The body is inadequately nourished and so grows weak.

Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery cures diseases of the stomach and other organs of digestion and nutrition. It strengthens the stomach and so strengthens the whole body which depends on the stomach for the nourishment from which strength is made.

There is no alcohol in "Golden Medical Discovery," and it is entirely free from opium, cocaine and all other narcotics.

Accept no substitute for the "Discovery." There is no medicine "just as good " for diseases of the stomach and allied organs.

"Your 'Golden Medical Discovery' has performed a wonderful cure." writes Mr. M. H. House, of Charleston, Franklin Co. Ark. "I had the worst case of dyspopsia, the doctors and the worst case of dyspopsia, the doctors asy, that they ever saw. After trying seven doctors and everything I could hear of, with no benefit, I tried Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery, and now I am cured."

The mode of operating one of the older furnaces, although it was the accepted method only a few years ago, seems crude enough now. Workmen with shovels transfer the fuel and raw material from the railroad cars to noveliar on wheelbarrows which are loaded on a rickety-looking elevator that creeps creakingly up the outside of the furnace to the top, a hundred feet in the air. sense to have-considered the sign of the N. P. A. This child be indeadly sover a large holy of workmen are buny in controlling.

The Taxona Greys will play here as large holy of workmen are buny in the play here as the control of the sign of the wording match between the state and the month. The latheresty of the control of the sign of the wording match between the state and the month of the strength of the wording of the wording and the burst of the sign of the wording and the wording and the superior of the sign of the wording and the proved nothing but a useless year looked in play beer through the sign of th the athietic schools of America and England.

Jenkins, on the other hand, was a miracle of muscular development. Lithe as a tiger, carrying not an ounce of superfluous feels, a vision, of symmetry and strength, he stepped upon the platform, the very apotheosis of the Anglo-Saxon philosophy. And yet the great, lumpy, lumbering, unwieldy Nouroulah picked up the Cleve'and wonder as if he were a pretty kitten and did with him as he pleased. Jenkins was for him a mere helpless plaything, a puppet to be tossed about and tossed and caught again like some imponderable handball. Of course the Turk was much tailer, and he weighed 150 pounds more than his antagonist; but, according to our complacent and self-sufficient convictions this estra weight was wholly detrimental. Nouroulah was simply carrying about with him 150 pounds of more or less injurious fat—an equipment that injured and embarrussed him—while all his habits and indulgences were so many violations of the most sacred laws of athletic training.

BASEBALL.

THURSDAY'S GAME.

The Port Angeles ball team and their felends will be over on the steamer Garland on Thursday about noon, and the hall tossers from across the Strails expect to do great things on the diamond. This should prove a yeary good grame, as the feams will be evenly matched and both nines will be evenly matched and both nines will be over on the state of both nines will be onto to win. The focal boys are now in very good form, and should put up a fine article of ball, as they have now had almost two months of constant practice, and should they put up another game as they did against the University of Washington here on the lat of June, the local fans will certainly be repaid for the sondience they have in the Victorias. The team that will take the field against Angeles will be a heavier batting aggregation than the locals have played this season, and unless the visitors have an exceptionally successful pitcher the Victorias should have no trouble in batting out sufficient runs to win the game.

It is doubtful if there is a better fielding team among the amateur ranks in the Northwest than the local club, and if they could bat as well as they field they would be fit to cope with any team in this part of the world.

Sammy Smith, who will pitch, will. A doubt, prove a surprise to the fans, and the knowing ones do not hesitate to predict his success. If the new lad can hold his end up the team will come very near being the whise. The game will be called about 3 o'clock, so that everyone can be back in town by 5 o'clock or very shortly after. The tramway company promisees a good service, and all that is accessary for the complete success of the game is good weather.

For sheer magnificence of folly, the mad King of Bayaria surpasses all other cases.

Amongst other things, he was devoted to music and the theatre, but could never bear to six with a crowd of people near alim. Therefore, whenever he wanted to see a play or hear an opera, as he constantly did, he had the whole performance specially arranged for himself. On one occasion the indulgence of this whim cost him 20,000 for a single performance. In one famous palace the hall is decorated with enamelled peacer's, and contains rooms of every imaginally color. The bedroom is of purple and gold, and the heavily-glided bed itself cost over £125,000. Another room of year extent is entirely lined with superb mirrors, and is lighted by 2.500 candles. He always used to drink a wonderful similar of which floated freshly-gathered violets. The mixing of this beverage used to cost £10 each time.

Perhaps one of the most strange instances of these "follies" is that of a very eminent scientific man living in our own country, who for many years of his life lived in an old, tumbledown barn.

Decoration Day was observed here with unusual interest, the lodges of Knights of Pythas and Oddfellows uniting in the cegemonies at the graves of the departed brethren. The turnout of spectators far exceeded allything ever seen at a similar function of this city. The brethren marched in a body to the cemetery, headed by the City band, and bearing great masses of beautiful flowers with which to decorate the graves and monuments. The spacious gemetery was filled with an immense crowd who took the keenest interest in all the rites carried out soleumly and reverentially by the Knights and Oddfellows.

Soon after the husband made some excuse and quit the room. After waiting some time for his return the woman started out in search of him and enlisted the assistance of Constable Heabener. He in turn reported the case to Sergeant Hardy. The missing trunk was located on the city wharf, and some further inquiry satisfied the police that the owner of the trunk had taken passage on the steamer, and was at the time asleep on board. A plan of campaign was quickly decided upon, and a few minutes before the steamer was due to sail the anxious wife was taken on board by the police and call.

Henry Bowman, an old-timer in Vancouver, died a few days ago at Harrison river, at the home of his son-in-law. Mr. Bowman was well known here, especially by the older residents of the city. He had the distinction of being the first white man married in Vancouver. For a number of years he was steward of the Hastings Mill company.

Snow in Vancouver at any season is a rarity, but snow at the end of June—impossible, you say? Well, it was evident on Sunday at the southern outskirts of the city, that he who ran could see. It did not last long—a mere flurry in fact—but it was genuine snow. It developed into one of the heaviest rain and had storms of the season on Sunday morning. It was a local disturbance apparently, for arrivals from the interior say that the weather was not noticeably, bad up the line. The heavy fall began shortly after 10 o'clock and lasted for half an hour. Cordova street was practically affoat and high water was marked just at the top of the curbstones. On Mount Pleasant some damage was done to she bicycle track on Westminster avenue. A new cinder track had just been completed on Saturday, but had not yet been rolled down. The figure, of middle height, was stocky and well-set, conveying at a glance an impression of physical strength. There was nothing in the appearance or dress of the man to cause one to single him out from among any crowd of burghers. He looked the typical Boer of the veldt, from his weather beaten slouch hat to the cowhide boots into which his trousers were tucked. A more unmilitary figure could hardly be conceived. There was no attempt at uniform. A dingy, dark-blue sweater conceiled the shirt—if there was one—and the trousers were an ordinary pair of brown over-alls. Coat there was none. A bedraggled little cockade of ostrich feathers was stuck in one side of the hatband, but it had lost its freshness and drooped dispiritedly. Not the slightest indication of rank was visible. ADOPTED THE GUARD.

The Toronto Street Railway Company in Their System.

It will certainly prove of interest to Victorians to learn that the Toronto Street Railway-Company has decided to edopt the Twentieth Century Guard for street car service, invented and patented by Thos. Watson, of this city. The fender has been on trial for several months past, and has given the greatest satisfaction:

It has been through, several accidents and the fact that it escaped virtually unscathed speaks volumes for its strength and durability. The adoption of the new fender means an order for several hundred, the exact number of which has not yet been ascertained. When such a city as Toronto adopts an article after careful trial there is some justification for the prediction that the other cities will fall into line and supersede their unreliable autiquated fenders by somewhing modern, efficacious and one that has stood the test.

A local company has taken the new inyeation up and arrangements will be instituted at once for supplying Toronto with the number required. The guard these columns some time ago. One is

Mr. Watson, the inventor, is a motoneer in the employ of the B. C. Electric Railway company. He visited the East some time ago and placed his guard on trial there. The Toronto Starcet Railway company immediately became intercested and installed one on their cars for a period of probation. The success of a Victorian product in competition with the very latest guard inventions from various parts of the continent is gratify-ing indeed.

Passenger by Hating Tells of How Can-

Thomas Worthington, one of the passengers to arrive at Vancouver yesterday on the steamer Hating, who came down from the Terminal City by the Charmer last evening, tells an interesting story of a race between the C. P. greyhound and the Alaska Steamship Company's clipper ship Dolphin, in which the latter came off second best. The Hating left Skagway five hours behind her formidable rival, and once the Dolphin was in sight and the race inevitable tha greatest excitement prevailed aboard. It was the first opportunity that the Canadian liner had of showing her superior speed, and the manner in which she overhauled the Dolphin and left behind the American colors inspired the greatest confidence in the Hating.

CARE OF CAGED BIRDS.

Them,

A few timely hints on the care of birds will, perhaps, not come amiss to lnexperienced aviculturists. It always seems such a sad thing to see the poor little songsters imprisoned all their lives with bad cages and improper food and treatment, when their mistresses would be only too glad to make them happy if they did but know how.

First, you must be careful to give them as large a cage as possible, with three preches at least. Then you must decide on the position for it. It must be in a light and sunny place if you want to get the best songs from your little prisoner, of course, they are generally hung in the window, and that is all right so long as they are out of the way of cats and droghts. Birds (and especially foreign ones, including canaries) are very susceptible to cold, and their deaths are frequently caused by bronchids or asthma, which can often be traced to their hay, ing been in a draught, perhaps quite a small one, until then quite anknown to the owner of the bird. Of course, every king or queen in the world to-day is no more "royal" of blood than are all these Icelanders, for each then are all these Icelanders, for each the originally descended from some such "king" in those early days.

Poor, But Proud.

Of course, poverty and hard work became the lot of those chieftains and their families in Iceland, but they bore it proadly and taught their children to be noble and upright and digalised in their canduct, as a proof of their lineage.

To-day the people of Iceland are all poor—but there are no paupers, no dependents; all are self-supporting. There is little or no cring there.

school for girls. Mothers are the only educations of their daughters, while a fine college for men has existed for centuries. That the women of Iceland are so intelligent and well informed as they are speaks worders for these mothers, deprived of all save the rudiments of education.

Here would be an excellent opportunity for Mr. Carnegle to do some good educational work in establishing an extensive fibrary for the use of the women of Reykjavik, the capital of Iceland. It is nowhere more needed, and would be nowhere more appreciated than among these sober, moral, industrious, worthy people.

A distressed but industrious reviewer who tries to keep up with the procession announces that, by actual count, no less than eighty-eight historical romances appeared in the month of April. If this sort of thing keeps up steps will have to be taken to save the lives of reviewers. Novel readers who undertake to read all the new books may become mental and physical wrecks, but since they voluntarily tempt fate they deserve no sympathy. The unfortunate wretches who have to read the endless supply of historical fiction, whether or no, are the ones who need relief. The ragbag jumble that must be made of any mind after the reading of eighty-eight historical novels a month is something awful to contemplate.—Indianapolis Journal.
